Celebrate Cincinnati's rich music history in this world premiere musical Cincinnati King about King Records!

Cincinnati King shines a spotlight on the revolutionary King Records music label and its Queen City roots. It will run from Nov. 3-Dec. 23 in the Shelterhouse Theatre, Playhouse in the Park 2018 Season. Tickets can be purchased online starting July 16th or by calling 513-421-3888. Based on hundreds of interviews, the story traces the groundbreaking rise of music pioneer Syd Nathan and the artists he produced, the music he created and the enemies he made along the way. The show shares behind-the-scenes tales of King Records hits including "The Twist," "Blues Stay Away From Me," "Fever" and "Need Your Love So Bad."

Playhouse in the Park is located in Eden Park on the edge of Mt. Adams, if you're utilizing a GPS device, the street address is 962 Mt. Adams Circle, 45202. Convenient parking is available in the Playhouse garage and can be reserved in advance by calling the Box Office at 513.421.3888. This is strongly recommended as parking may be sold out on the day of the show, and parking space is extremely limited in Mt. Adams. Garage parking is $8.50 when reserved in advance ($10 in December) and $10 on the day of the show (if available).

future of Evanston

(attend one training)

Thurs., July 19, 6-8pm or

Sat., July 28, 10am-12pm

location Evanston Recreation Center
3204 Woodburn Ave.

What do you want to see for the future of Evanston?

Are you interested in working with other residents and stakeholders that are committed to Evanston to shape that vision?

We will be working with at least 20 residents and stakeholders from Evanston who will host a community conversation with a group of their neighbors or people they know from Evanston. We hope you will join us as a conversation host! The community conversations will focus on strengths and assets (things that are going well), your experience living in Evanston, and what you want to see in the future.

These conversations are the first step in a neighborhood plan kicking off in Evanston. Neighborhood leadership from the Evanston Community Council and the Community Building Institute at Xavier University are teaming up, with support from the Greater Cincinnati Redevelopment Authority, to create a resident-driven plan for Evanston's future. We need your help in hearing from every part of the community.

The Community Building Institute will host two training sessions for community conversation hosts. The training will provide tips for hosting the conversations, including questions and methods for recording themes you hear in the conversations. We will also talk about how to recruit your neighbors and friends, and provide support with scheduling and snacks to provide during the conversations. Please RSVP to shirey_e1@xavier.edu or (513) 745-3935

St. Andrews Summer Reading Program

The Summer Reading Program at St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Evanston has become a very popular Summer activity for the community youth. The program is geared for children in grades 2 and 3, a very critical time for young people in learning to read. In addition to reading activities, some of the participants are individually tutored. In addition, breakfast and lunch are also provided to further enhance the participants' healthy learning process.

Another important component to the program are the "helpers", Yasmeen Thomas, Trent Butler and Alivia Jenkins-Smith. Not only are they helpers with the program, they are also graduates of The Summer Reading Program. As helpers they are responsible for assisting the instructor with help in cleaning up after craft activities and with the outside break activities. They also help the volunteers with setting the tables for breakfast, lunch and snacks as well as making sure trash is properly disposed. They also assist in taking the participants for restroom breaks during the day and being very helpful with those needing a little encouragement during the day as well.

We had a discussion with each individual helper about their goals for the future. Alivia's included nursing and a pro volleyball and/or soccer-player. Yasmeen's goals are, developing her current talent as a cellist, pro basketball, pro soccer and photography. Trent said his goals are pro basketball and being a "rapper". After this discussion, We see a lot of potential for leadership growth in these helpers for the future. Who knows what great heights they will attain from this experience. Submitted by Jerry Bedford

Listermann Brewing Company, King Studios and We Have Become Vikings continue summer beer series celebrating King Records musicians for 75th anniversary

CINCINNATI— King Studios, Listermann Brewing Company along with the design & print shop We Have Become Vikings continue the celebration of the upcoming 75th anniversary of King Records in Evanston with its summer beer series saluting musicians from the Cincinnati label. Two musicians were honored in June— drummer Philip Paul and guitarist Merle Travis - whose dynamic playing skills contributed greatly to American music and helped shape its sound.

Listermann Brewing Company is generously donating 10% of the beer proceeds to King Studios.

"It's been a fun time paying homage to early rock and roll, country and R&B artists that came out of Cincinnati, and inevitably, changed the course of music history. We all know Cincinnati is a special city, and these musical legends make that quite obvious, and we are proud to be connected with this effort to re-vitalize King Records, so that we have a physical location to celebrate these legends that help make Cincinnati great!" said Jared Lewinski, head brewer at Listermann Brewing Company.

We Have Become Vikings have been commissioned to design a portrait of each musician that will appear on the can along with a short artist bio written by a music historian. We Have Become Vikings were the creators of King City, the art installation that celebrated Syd Nathan's company during the wildly popular Blink Festival in October 2017 in downtown Cincinnati.

Start your collection of this beer series this summer and celebrate Cincinnati music history!
